

LigoPTP 620HP-IDU

Product End of Life Announcement

LigoWave strives to deliver the ultimate user experience and impeccable product functionality. Thus, with any and all software and hardware updates, we seek to ensure innovation and novelty. As technologies continue to progress, certain elements become obsolete and eventually discontinued to make room for bigger and better things—and we are here to help you through this transition.

LigoWave hereby announces that it is initiating the end of life of the following product and provides relevant end of life dates:

Product	Description
LigoPTP 620HP-IDU	A 6–38GHz digital microwave point-to-point device for high capacity transmission, flexibility, and convenience with wireless communication networks.
